GREAT JUDGMENT IS REQUIRED IN THE SElection of the kind of life insurance policy one buys. We are often asked which of the many kinds issued by THE TRAVELERS INS. CO. we would advise post to the kinds issued by THE TRAVELERS INS. CO. we would advise men to take. It all depends upon age and what is wanted of the policy. If family protection is the main thing, we recommend to a young man a long endowment policy, regular or annuity; the cost is not greatly above that of regular life, his family is as fully protected, while the money will come back to live on in old age.

RESULT OF ELECTION

Catherine E. Colwell of New York city sang Pending the approval of the minutes, a page carried to the stage an armful of American Beauty roses, tied with several yards of crimson ribbon, and presented them to Mrs. Manning. They were sent by Mrs. Manning's chapter, Mohawk Chapter of Albany, N. Y. At 11:30 the ballot box was brought upon the stage by Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Parke and Miss Richards.

Result of the Election. "The next order of business," said Mrs. Manning, "is the announcement of the result of the election," and a strange silence came over the usually noisy audience. Mrs. Parke, the chairman of the tellers, came to the front of the stage and said in a clear voice, which was heard in all parts of the house, that the number of votes cast was 584, and that the number necessary to elect was 293.

"Of the votes cast," said Mrs. Parke, while nearly every daughter in the con-gress held her breath, "Mrs. Fairbanks has received 333." A storm of enthusiasm swept over the audience. Hundreds of we-men sprang to their feet and shrieked. They waved their handkerchiefs and wraps. Hundreds of small and white hands were uplifted. The shrill cheering continued three or four minutes. Mrs. Fairbanks came forward and attempted to speak, but was overwhelmed with applause. When order was restored Mrs. Parke continued: "Of the votes cast Mrs. McLean has received 208," and again there was loud ap-plause. It was subsequently announced that Mrs. Washington Roebling had received 42 votes, and the excitement gradually subsided.

The candidates for vice presidents general receiving the necessary number of votes to elect were: Mrs. Lindsay, Kentucky, 446; Mrs. Sternberg, District of Columbia, 369; Mrs. Waring, South Carolina, 366; Mrs. Scott, Illinois, 358; Mrs. Kendall, Maine, 236; Mrs. Mellon, Pennsylvania, 322; Mrs W. Mrs. Fairbanks addressed the congress

"Madam President General and Daughters of the American Revolution: I thank from the Des Moines chapter, is a promi-"Madam President General and Daughyou for the honor you have bestowed upon me-the highest in your power to conferin response to which I now stand before tached yourselves to my fortunes. Words may but feebly express my affectionate appreciation of your loyalty, your unswerving fidelity. But be assured that the tenderest ions of you and your labors shall remain forever upon my memory and in my heart. For those who have opposed me I have the kindest thoughts, and thank them for their courteous treatment of me during our campaign. I now call upon you most cordially to join in carrying out the grand designs which brought our society into being. Let us all forget any differences of opinion which belonged to yesterday, but press on to the high calling marked out for us by the big-brained, far-seeing, noblehearted founders of our national society. Heaven bless them, and give them length of days, prosperity and peace!

"We have wonderful, momentous duties devolving upon us. The National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution is like an elder daughter of the republic, for we labor under the charter of the United States government, hence it be-hooves us most seriously to cherish, maintain and extend the institutions of Amerlean freedom, to foster true patriotism and love of country, and to aid in securing for mankind all the blessings of liberty.

"Compared to these ideas how petty are management. How much more pitiful are thoughts of personal aggrandizement. Let us banish such poor ideas, and cherish those thers which are somewhat akin to divine thoughts.

"Let us remember to mark all those historic spots rendered illustrious and sacred by the suffering, blood, devotion and patriotism of our revolutionary heroes. is not forget to seek the protection of the United States Congress against the sacriegious and desecrating uses of our flagthat emblem of humanity. Let us strive to keep the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution up to a high standard of splendld achievements. "Again thanking you for the distinguished consideration with which you have listened to me, I hope that good fortune will attend you all on your homeward journeys, and that happiness and health will attend you in all your homes. Au revoir!

Parliamentary Tangle.

It was moved that Mrs. Jewett of Illinois, having the highest number of votes of three candidates, without the requisite number to elect, be declared elected. The chair put the question as one of unanimous consent. and declared it carried, though there were many noes. This led to a parliamentary complication which threw the congress into

ABOUT "BLOOD PURIFIERS" AND "TONICS." Every drop of blood, every bone, nerve and tissue in the body can e renewed in but one way, and that is from wholesome food, properly digested. There is no other way, and the idea that a medicine in itself can perify the blood or supply new tissues and strong nerves is ridiculous and on a par with the folderol that dyspepsia or indigestion is a germ disease, or that other fallacy, that a weak stomach which refuses to digest food can be made to do so by irritating and inflaming the bowels by pills and cathactics. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure indigestion, sour omach, gas and bloating after meals, because they furnish the digestive principles which weak stomachs lack, and unless the deficiency of pepsin and diastase is supplied it is useless to attempt to cure stomach trouble by the use of "tonics," "pills" and eatharties," which have absolutely no digestive power, and their only effect is to give a temporary stimulation. One grain of the active principle in Stuart's Dy pepsia Tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat, ggs and similar foods, and experiments have shown that they will do this in a glass bottle at proper emperature, but of course are much more effective in the stomach.

There is probably no remedy so universally used s Stuart's Tablets, because it is not only the sick and alling, but well people, who use them at every meal to insure perfect digestion and assimilation of People who enjoy fair health take Stuart's Tablets as regularly as they take their meals, because they want to keep well. Prevention is always better than cure, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do both; they prevent indigestion and they remove it where it exists. "The right man came along one day when he told me that coffee drinking was the cause of my gastritis, nervousness, torpid liver and trembling hands that interfered with my business, that of mechanical drawing, but coffee was my only habit and I loved it so that I did not see how I could give it up. "If he had not been so enthusiastic regarding the relief in his case by leaving off coffee and taking Postum Food Coffee I could not have mustered up will power enough to abandon my favorite beverage.

"I left off coffee that day at lunch and had cup of Postum. It was made good and had a rich, dark color, with a delicious flavor that I could not tell from regular coffee. It pleased the eye, smell and palate, so I had it each day at the restaurant for the noonday lunch, and discovered a decided improvement in my condition, but it was not until I left off coffee for breakfast and used Postum in its place that real relief set in. Now I am free from gastritis, headaches and fully appreclate the 'value of the 'nerve ease.' No more trembling hands and no more nervous prostration. I am well, and feel that I should say to others who are being poisoned by a heverage that they do not suspect, 'coffee,' 'Make the change before
